Welcome

ESVM 2023 is the annual scientific meeting organized by the European Society of Vascular Medicine (ESVM).

In this year ESVM will organize the first of a series of hybrid (face-to-face and virtual) scientific meetings.

For this purpose, a focused three-day scientific program will provide state of the art update by international high profile experts, in the field of basic science, translational medicine, and clinical practice in the areas of atherosclerosis, lymphology, thrombosis, vascular diseases, and vascular biology.

Topics will include peripheral arterial disease, venous disease, lymphatic disease, microcirculation, and cardiovascular prevention. Pharmacotherapy and the use of endovascular devices will also be part of the meeting, giving the clinician an update guiding and encouraging optimum day-to-day clinical practice.

At this meeting, the etiology and basic principles of vascular pathophysiology and disease states will be explored in depth, to equally drive forward research and innovation in these areas.

Part of the meeting will be dedicated to the presentation of original clinical and translational research in digital poster format, allowing the exchange of ideas and experience among researchers and clinicians.

The scientific program will be delivered by an expert faculty consisting of the most prominent international names in respective areas.

Alongside opportunities for education and learning, the possibility to access key opinion leader and for networking between young clinicians/scientists and experienced researchers, clinicians, faculty members and industry partners will create unique opportunities for development of new ideas and future collaboration.

The beautiful city of Milan, repeatedly named as one of the best tourist destinations in Europe, is the perfect setting for this outstanding scientific event. Being modern but also associated with great traditions, Milan has a special atmosphere and ambience recognized by all visitors.

ESVM 2023 will be the KEY vascular event in Europe and an important milestone in continuing medical education

We very much hope you will be able to participate in this exciting, cutting-edge meeting with us !

ESVM is both a scientific and educational meeting. It offers the unique opportunity to learn more about the multidisciplinary and translational approaches of arterial, venous, and lymphatic diseases, intervention, antithrombotics, and prevention.

The conference provides a natural platform for professionals to learn, exchange, network, and disseminate best practices for the benefit of the patient.

It will provide key opportunities for our sponsors to meet with both established researchers and also get to know the next generation of vascular physicians.

Discuss innovations, therapies, and applications improving patient care: a unique opportunity for wide-reaching exchange.

Join our scientific program with a Satellite Symposium and showcase your company's solutions with an exhibition located in a prime position.
